A very challenging opportunity has arisen for a highly-driven and motivated mechanical engineer with experience in managing interfaces in complex mega-projects.

He/She will anticipate, manage, resolve and follow-up the interface issues for the construction of civil and mechanical systems for ITER site and buildings according to the general specifications received from the ITER Organisation.

ITER is one of the largest construction projects in Europe, currently approaching the peak of activities on site. Interfaces management at ITER is a core function at the heart of the project that requires skilled, experimented, and dynamic engineers in the area of mechanical equipment, integration and assembly.

1. RESPONSIBILITIES

As a member of the ITER Delivery Department of Fusion for Energy (F4E), the Interface Engineer will report directly to the Head of the Technical Support Service (hierarchical line). This matrixed member of the ITER Programme Department of F4E, will also report to the Project Team Leader of the Buildings, Infrastructures, and Power Supplies Project (BIPS), functional line.

The successful candidate will, among other tasks:

- Act as BIPS representative in the area of Interface Management in relation with ITER stakeholders and BIPS Contractors, to anticipate issues, propose solutions proactively and manage their implementation.
- Liaise with the ITER Organisation and other projects of Fusion for Energy in his/her area of expertise and responsibility;
- Manage design studies, in close relation with the Buildings Integration Cell working in the CATIA 3D model of the buildings and process systems, ensuring that all Functional / Layout / In-Service-Inspection (ISI)/ Commissioning / Maintenance and Nuclear Safety requirements are properly satisfied and integrated with other systems (including civil works) through agreed and well defined procedures;

---

<sup>1</sup> Given the needs of the organisation, the candidate may be offered a position at any of the other F4E working places: Barcelona (Spain) or Garching (Germany).

- Follow-up design activities from the Various Contractors involved in the ITER construction, anticipating interfaces issues between F4E Contractors and between F4E and IO Contractors and proactively managing them;
- Be the representative of the BIPS Project Team in the Assembly Sequence Working Group, where interface issues in relation with sequence of construction and assembly are identified and resolved;
- Follow-up construction activities from the Various Contractors involved in the ITER construction from the manufacture till the commissioning and the operation phase through the different construction works and tests, in relation with the coordination team from the Architect Engineer, identify interface issues and managing them up to the proper instruction to the relevant Contractors;
- Participate in the elaboration of the technical specifications for the procurement contracts or the variations with the permanent goals to cope with the project requirements and particularly the Nuclear Safety requirements, and to anticipate any relevant interface aspects;
- Ensure that F4E Quality Assurance and Control requirements are implemented in all activities related to his/her/area of responsibility in accordance with the arrangements established with the ITER Organisation;
- Contribute to the assessment and disposition of Project Change Requests (PCR), Field Change Requests (FCR), Deviation Requests (DR), Non-Conformance Requests (NCR) in his/her area of responsibilities;
